

What do you think would be fun about being a parent?

What do you think would be hard about being a parent?

What do you think are 3 things parents need in order to be good moms and dads?

If you become a parent someday, what do you think you will like to do the most with your kids?

What do you think you will like to do the least?