

A Letter to Myself

My Advice to Me as an In-Law

This letter is to me, from me. It describes the kind of in-law I want to be for the spouse of my child. I know that parenting is a hard job, and that I won't ever really be done, even when my child marries. But I also know how important it is that I give a gift to my child of being the kind of in-law that I believe my child deserves.

Dear Me as an In-Law,

Love always,

Me
